Conference Committee Agrees.

The conference committee of the house and senate came to an agreement yesterday on the matter of the tax on property sold and the senate conference won out, which makes the tax on property sold 20 per cent of the total value. It is a great victory for Messes Shee and Davis who have worked night and day on the matter representing the Mid-continent oil & gas association.

Late News From Texas.

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 27.—The Commanding officer report that big wells in the Duke Knowles pool were blowing up, was a comical and bad story invented by a lazy soul in the oil field who didn't know what he was talking about. The story got out to the well and consequently put this over on us. Pipe line officials who superintend securing oil from these wells report authoritatively as follows: "Magnolia Duke No. 1, producing about 1,100 barrels of oil and 5,000,000 feet of gas. Tex Penn Knowles No. 1, approximately 2,200 or 2,300 barrels of oil. Tex Penn Duke No. 2, 20 barrels."

These were Sunday gances. Deep down in Magnolia Duke undeniably did appear to unsettle the other wells for a while—but whatever odd subterranean disturbance it might have occasioned if soon ceased and the two older wells began acting normally again—Prestiss T. Moore.

Editor's note: This will do for you. Mr. Prestiss T. Moore.

New Refinery a Success.

The new refinery at East St. Louis started by W. W. Strickler and D. E. McConaughay, with E. P. Harwell and A. T. Allison as financial backers, seems to be a tremendous success.

All the experts, including Arch Grider of the Midland Petroleum Company and John Campion are coming down with the samples shown at the World oil desk in the Hotel Tulsa lobby.

It is a fine thing for Messrs. Strickler and McConaughay, that they have made good with the Waller process on Goose creek crude. They have been persistent in their efforts to turn out high grade lubricating oils and from the samples shown have been eminently successful.

Meeting of the National Petroleum Congress.

The meeting of the National Petroleum congress, to be held in Chicago, March 24-28, has been well attended, fail to attract more men interested in the petroleum industry than ever gathered together before in the history of the oil business.

It is conceded that the date set for this congress is a most opportune time, coming as it does between the closing of the winter season and the opening of the summer season.

W. G. Willard, assistant secretary of the American Petroleum League, who has been in Tulsa the past 10 days, says that there has been a much interest here shown at any former meeting ever planned. The present indications are that between 1,500 and 1,800 oil men will be in attendance, a large number of them will be Tulsa members of the oil fraternity. Mr. Willard will leave tonight to cover the Texas field in the interests of the convention.

winter but hurried home on account of the prevalence of the flu which is rampant in that country. Mr. Williams, a citizen of the state of Illinois, while visiting Chicago, and has a pretty good notion to go back and try his luck in the oil fields. The most exciting experience he had was when going into his office in Tulsa on his return, he was stopped by the outer guard who insisted on knowing his business before admitting him.

O. R. Howard III.

O. R. Howard, who has been ill in his room in the Hotel Tulsa for the last week with a touch of the flu and also suffering with a bad cold, is much improved and expects to be out again shortly. He is under the care of Dr. Ardmore, where he is acting as receiver for the Ardmore Producing & Refining Co.
